

50,000 SOUVENIR POST CARDS

Showing Over
100 Different University Views

NOT THE ORDINARY CHEAP IMPORTED CARDS
BUT THE VERY BEST AMERICAN MAKE.

Sold in sets as follows:

THE MIGNON SET

10 FOR 25 CENTS.

The Experimental Grounds.
You Can't Get Away from the Dome.
The Show Herd.
The Ashland Gravel.
Real Winter in Columbia.
A University Flock.
The Hinkson Creek.
A Corner on the Campus.
Thy High Fame Shall Last.
The Columns.

THE PLATINO SET.

20 FOR 25c.

The President.
After the Fire.
Before the Fire.
Real Winter.
University Auditorium.
Laying a Corner Stone.
The Law Building.
The Columbia Churches.
You Can't Get Away from the Dome.
Some Farm Buildings.
A Group of University Buildings.
Christian College.
Ashland Gravel.
The University Cadets.
The University Cattle.
Stephens College.
The University Bell.
The Horticultural Building.
Five Campus Scenes.
The Inaugural Procession.

THE HAND-COLORED SET.

20 FOR 40c.

Ten University Buildings.
Commencement Days.
The Inaugural Procession.
The Cadets.
Experimental Grounds.
Hinkson Creek.
All on the Campus.
Out of Town Scenes.
A Corner of the Campus.
The Columns.
The Ashland Gravel.
Christian College.
Some Strolling Places.
The Show Herd.
Horticultural Grounds.
The University Flock.
Real Winter on the Campus.
Nature Near Columbia.
You Can't Get Away from the Dome.
Thy High Fame Shall Last.

Don't forget these are better local views than were ever published here before.

The CO-OP will be open Friday and Saturday evenings, April 30 and May 1.

Largest line of Spoons, Fobs, Pennants,
Pictures, etc., in the city.

THE CO-OP

DID RIP VAN WINKLE LIVE IN BOONE?

Campbell St. John May Have Been Original of Irving's Famous Character.

HE DIED TWO YEARS AGO

Author Probably Met Him on His Western Search for Story Material.

Who knows but that the original character of Rip Van Winkle was an old resident of Boone county? In appearance, actions and habits, the characterization by Joe Jefferson was almost identical with the life of Campbell St. John, who died two years ago at his home eight miles east of Columbia. He was 89 years old.

St. John was unique in his habits. He always wore a slouch coat and trousers that were fastened together by a wooden peg at the belt, a slouch black hat was pressed down far on his head. On his feet he wore a boot and a shoe. His face was smooth-shaven and striking in its features. His eyes were blue and twinkling and his expression perpetually careless and "happy-go-lucky." His only thought was of the present.

St. John must have attracted the attracted the attention of Washington Irving, who came through Boone county more than half a century ago. Irving was looking for material for his books and sketches. As St. John's mother was a Van Bibber of New York it is probable that Irving knew of him or his father there.

Many of the older residents of the county knew St. John as a backwoodsman who would come to town, sell his small products and then make merry in his own fashion. Some of his quaint jests are still remembered. His trips to town were looked forward to by some who had become interested in his eccentricities.

St. John had been married and his only son was killed in Custer's famous fight with the Indians. His loneliness may have been one cause of his lack of ambition or care. His life was a daily routine of "day-dreaming," filled in with occasional work to provide means of existence. But his character was as Jefferson portrays Rip Van Winkle "the Arcadian vagabond of the world of dreams."

HE'S A TARGET FOR QUESTIONS

Information of All Kinds Given Out in Academic Hall.

How'd you like to be the information man?

That young man who smiles at you across the table in the corridor of Academic hall, when you ask him where the Rothwell gymnasium is, has probably had more different queries hurled at him since morning than you could think of in a week. He'll explain to you that the quadrangle is not an addition to the mathematics department, that there are no street cars in Columbia, that the University does not keep a live Tiger for a mascot, while at the same time he is listening to the fearful questions of the high school girl who is looking for her cousin.

He is asked to be stakeholder, to decide bets, to furnish the world's record in the high jump, to change big bills, and to inform the questioner where he can buy a cheap meal.

"But it wouldn't be so bad," remarked the information man, "if some would-be joker of a University student, who looks innocent enough to be a visitor, didn't come along about this time and ask if Read hall wasn't the University library."

AT THE U. D. CLUB 200

Meals Served To Hungry High School Pupils Last Night.

More than 200 high school students ate their breakfast this morning and dinner last night at the University Dining Club. Twenty nine tables, eight seats to the table, were vacated by University of Missouri students for the high school visitors. Fifty more University students will vacate the club for luncheon today to accommodate the high school athletes. The visitors were shown how Tiger students could give college yells at the club. Last night yells were given for Missouri and several high schools, including the ones at "McBaine" and "Mores Switch."

LOST—On the Wabash special train from St. Joseph or between Wabash station and 511 Rollins street, Columbia, a Tiffany watch with monogram E. I. M. Finder please return to H. R. Shaw, 511 Rollins street, Columbia, Mo. (adv.)

You can own a home in beautiful Westwood or Westmount, the best home district in Columbia. Don't hesitate; I will sell you a lot right. J. A. Stewart. (adv.)

Copyright 1908 by Michaelson & Co.
Rochester, N. Y.

Spring Suits!

All shades, patterns, fabrics. For everyday wear, for dress wear, for graduation. Complete in style, in wearability, in fit. All hand-made garments. High School Day visitors cordially invited to inspect the characteristic medium-priced line of men's wearables of Columbia. Also, to make "The Rochester" your bureau of information. We will cheerfully give you any assistance in our power. You will find here anything, regular or novelty, you are likely to stand in need of during your visit.

"The Rochester,"

Clothing and Furnishings.

911 Broadway.

M. U. SOUVENIRS

AT

MIZZOU CRAFT SHOP

FOR

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

14 SOUTH NINTH STREET

MAKE THE DRUG SHOP Your Headquarters

WELCOME! We want you to feel at home here—we want you to come in and let us show you our matchless line of

Kodaks and Tennis Goods

The largest and best Kodak stock in Columbia.

Full line of Spalding's Tennis
Rackets and Tennis Balls.

The Drug Shop

HATTON & KNIGHT

Telephone 302